TRIAL OF A PRIEST.—In the Common Pleas at Springfield, Mass., Rev. J. J. Doherty, the Catholic priest, was on trial on Wednesday for the seduction of a Miss Monagan, the indictment for rape having been abandoned. The girl was organist in his church, teaching in the school, and resided in the priest's family. She swore to their constant intercourse, after he had first partly forced her; to his sending her to New York to be educated, his coming there, going round to the theatres, drinking, &c. Two witnesses sustained the girl's testimony as to the priest's conduct at a breakfast table in a nquired after, particularly in the north and New York hotel, which, in their opinion, indicated either intoxication or insanity. The plaintiff's counsel hereupon gave notice of a proba-ble settlement between the parties, when the to fifty per cent. Small houses, also, are in court adjourned to Thursday. Some little tesereat demand: from twenty to fifty could be timony was introduced by the defence to show that she might probably have been familiar with another young man.

LATER.—The suit against Rev. John J. Doherty, Catholic priest, at Springfield, Mass., for the seduction of Miss Monagan, has been settled by the defendant paying the plaintiff $1,600, and giving the following certificate:

"Whereas, in the course of the controversy now pending, imputations have been made that Mary Ann Monagan has had improper or illicit intercourse with divers individuals, I hereby declare that I know of nothing to authorize the assertion that she had such improper or illicit intercourse with any such person or persons. (Signed) June 11, 1851." JOHN J. DOHERTY

It was held by Mr. D. that the parties were made tools of for the gratification of other sects, and he had, before any examination, offered to compromise at $1,000, as "religion will not be a gainer by the ordeal," and she was sure to be a loser in any case. Miss Monagan testified also that he was anxious to have her get mar-ried to a young man she corresponded with, but she replied she would "look pretty deceiving a man after he had used her so."

Breakfast on board the steamboat; passing down the Potomac, in view of Mount Vernon, by daylight.

Passengers arriving in Baltimore by the morning line from Philadelphia, gain nothing by going on immediately by the Bay Line, and may as well remain over in Baltimore on this 6 a. m., or go on to Washington at 5 p. m., and remain until 9 a. m., the next morning, as they are obliged to lie over in Petersburg, if they arrive there earlier than the Great Mail Line, of the next morning, and are subjected to all the uncertainties and discomforts of a night on the Bay, instead of passing an agreeable one in Baltimore or Washington, without arriving any sooner, if as soon, at the end of their journey.

Passengers going to Washington by the train of 10 p.m., are taken, if they desire it, by the Company's Omnibus, at once, without charge, from the Washington depot to the Potomae steamboat, where they lodge, free of charge, and may lay over, (if they desire to do so.) with their through tickets, for a few days, at the following places, viz: Washington, Richmond, Petersburg, and Weldon.

Omnibuses are provided by the companies on this Line at Washington, Richmond, and Petersburg, by which passengers and their baggage are conveyed between the depots in those places, free of all expense.

For further information and "through tickets" apply at the Southern Ticket Office, adjoining the Washington Railroad Ticket Office, Pratt street, Baltimore.

Amherst College, Dec. 25, 1848.

Mr. Robert Sors—Dear Sir: I have looked over the entire series of your valuable publications with much interest and profit; and am quite surprised at the amount of literary labor you have performed, and the research it must have cost you to obtain so many fine illustrations, while you have an active superintendence of an extensive business. I am also gratified at the decidedly moral and religious influence which your books will exert, and cannot but hope that they will do much to counteract the effects of that light and immoral literature which deluges the land, and, like the frogs of Egypt, comes up even to the kneading troughs of our kitchens. May you live long to follow your plans.

Respectfully and sincerely, your obliged servant, EDWARD HITCHCOCK.

The present edition of this standard and favorite Latin Lexicon has been much improved by the transfer to its columns of the classical distinctions of Latin words, as given in the Lexicon of Dr. Wm. Freund, of Germany, and translated by Riddle. The classical degree of each word is indicated by a figure; for example, a word without a figure is fully classical and Ciceronian; with the figures 1, 2, and 3, words are classical only in the first, second, &c., degrees; and this distinction the student perceives at a glance. The Etymological Index, also from Freund's Lexicon, has been incorporated into the present edition of Leverett, and will be found a valuable acquisition. While transferring these notes and marks, catalogues were carefully kept of the words found in each Lexicon, which were not found in the other. On comparing these catalogues, it was found that the value and importance of the additional words found in Leverett, so far as a knowledge of the Latin language is concerned, very far exceeds that of those found in Riddle's Freund. The extensive use of Leverett's Lexicon in all parts of the country, and the preference which has been universally given to it over all similar works, render its recommendation superfluous; but attention to this new edition is respectfully invited, as being still more worthy than its predecessors of the distinguished favor which the work has hitherto received.

AND THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEWS.

WING to the late revolutions and counter-revolutions among the nations of Europe, which have followed each other in such quick succession, and of which "the end is not yet." the leading periodicals of Great Britain have become invested with a degree of interest hitherto unknown. They occupy a middle ground between the hasty, disjointed, and necessarily imperfect records of the newspapers, and the elaborate and ponderous treaties to be furnished by the historian at a future day. Whoever reads these periodicals obtains a correct and connected account of all the important political events of the Old World, as they occur, and learns the various conclusions drawn from them by the leading spirits of the age. The American publishers therefore deem it proper to call renewed attention to the works they publish, and the very low prices at which they are offered to subscribers. The following is their list, viz:

The London Quarterly Review, BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEWS

THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW,
THE EDINBURGH REVIEW,
THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW,
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW, and BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE.

In these periodicals are contained the views, moderately though clearly and firmly expressed, of the three greatest parties in England—Tory, Whig, and Radical; "Blackwood" and the "London Quarterly" are Tory, the "Edinburgh Review" Whig, and the "Westminster Review" Liberal. The "North British Review" owes its establish-Liberal. The "North British Review" owes its establishment to the last great ecclesiastical movement in Scotland, and is not ultra in its views on any one of the grand departments of human knowledge. It was originally edited by Dr. Chalmers, and now, since his death, is conducted by his son-in-law, Dr. Hanna, associated with Sir David Brewster. Its literary character is of the very highest order. The "Westminster," though reprinted under that title only, is published in England under the title of the "Foreign Quarterly and Westminster," it being in fact a union of the two Reviews formerly published and reprinted under separate titles. It has, therefore, the advantage, by this combination, of uniting in one work the best features of both, as herefofter issued.

The above Periodicals are reprinted in New York, immediately on their arrival by the British steamers, in a beautiful clear type, on fine white paper, and are faithful copies of the originals—Blackwood's Magazine being an exact fac simile of the Edinburgh edition.
